

GEN. MILLER
EXPIRED AT PT.
WASHINGTON

AGED GENTLEMAN WHO HAS RELATIVES AND FRIENDS HERE
DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE.

General William Miller, well and favorably known in Pensacola, and having relatives here, died yesterday at his home, Pt. Washington, Fla., at an age of over eighty years.
The information concerning the

Gen. Wm. Miller, Who Expired at His Home at Point Washington.

death of the noted old soldier was meager as received here. Pt. Washington proper is isolated and grain hills, so it was not possible to get full information regarding his demise.

Gen. Miller was an uncle of Mrs. C.
W. Hagerman, of this city, and has often visited here. As often as he came, a cordial welcome awaited him and he enjoyed it. He was a veteran of the civil war, and was one of the few remaining soldiers who took part in the battle of Natural Bridge. In the days of 1861-65, he was one of the foremost men of the state. At the engagement at Natural Bridge, as well as elsewhere, he led the southerners to victory.

Although in feeble health, he responded to calls of his people in his district some years ago and represented Washington and Calhoun counties in the state semi. Recently, however, his health began to fail fast, and it was not surprising to those who knew of his condition to receive the information of his death.
