

W. J. ACOSTA DIED EARLY LAST EVENING

Walter J. Acosta, a widely-known gentleman, who resided at the corner of Tenth avenue and Thirteenth street, died in the early part of last evening after suffering for some time with typhoid fever. The gentleman was known generally in Pensacola and when the fact of his death became known soon after its occurrence, there were heard many expressions of regret. Deceased might have been referred to as the pioneer furniture dealer of this city, having been associated many years ago in that line of business in Pensacola. The firm of Hutchinson & Acosta is not dimly remembered by many in this city.

It is probable that the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.
